

Welfare Session Called

Capitol News Service
 SACRAMENTO — A one-day fact finding conference has been called for July 10 in Sacramento by Governor Ronald Reagan to determine just how much fraud there is in the welfare program and what to do about it.

"The conference will bring together interested parties to consider both short and long range methods by which to establish accurate appraisals of the extent of welfare fraud," Reagan said. "It will also seek to establish, in the future, methods of better utilization of the taxpayers' dollar."

"The truly deserving must not be short-changed because of welfare chiselers and cheats, nor should the taxpayer who bears the load," he said.

Among those invited to attend the conference are a member designated by each county board of supervisors, the district attorneys, officers of the Welfare Directors Association and the County Supervisors' Association of California.
